A PROFILE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KERALA

1. Genesis & Evolution:

One of the first 16 Universities in India, the University of Kerala was founded as the University of Travancore in the erstwhile princely state of Travancore (now southern part of Kerala) in 1937. Since then, the University of Kerala has transformed itself in many ways. The earliest origins of the University may be traced back to two institutions of modern learning in Kerala, the University College Thiruvananthapuram and the Trivandrum Observatory¹. The University was modeled after the best Universities of the United Kingdom, and even today retains some of these features. The affiliating system of the University, however, evolved to be different from the college system in British Universities. The objective of the University was to effect re-organization of the system of education in the state so as to develop technical, technological education and research in applied science, in addition to promoting Kerala Art and Culture. The Logo of the University depicts a lotus with a conch shell (a symbol of erstwhile state of Travancore) and a traditional book stand with palm leaf manuscript on it, symbolizing scholarship. The motto of the University was drawn from Panchathantra (a Buddhist work) and reads “Karmani Vyajyathe Prajna” which roughly translates to “Wisdom manifests in action”²

In 1954, the unified state of Kerala came into being. The Kerala University Act was brought into force in 1957 and the University of Travancore was renamed University of Kerala (a name which was considered even in 1937) with jurisdiction all over the state of Kerala. The 1957 Act conferred a large measure of autonomy to the University and made its administrative bodies more broad-based. University of Kerala is today known as the “Mother University” of the state, as almost all the other Universities in the state were created by either bifurcating it or re-affiliating its affiliated colleges³. These developments

¹The University College was initially founded as the Maharaja's Free School by the King Swathi Thirunal in 1834, with Mr. John Roberts, a Christian Missionary as Headmaster, and soon grew into a college in 1866, affiliated to the Madras University. When the University of Travancore was founded, the Departments of the College became the University Departments, only to switch back again when the transformation to University of Kerala happened in 1957. The University College still retains its connection with the University as an affiliated college. The Trivandrum Observatory was founded in 1837 and had an internationally reputed scientist, John Caldecott FRS as its first Director. The “Travancore Almanac “ of 1838 was the first publication from the Observatory. It later became a part of the Travancore University and is today the oldest institution of scientific research under the University of Kerala. Even today the Observatory is the agency relied upon by the Govt. of Kerala for entering Moon rise and setting in the Govt. calendar.

³ The University had three campuses located in three different parts of the state viz. Thiruvananthapuram, Ernakulam and Kozhikode. In 1968, the University Campus at Kozhikode became a full-fledged University, the University of Calicut. The Cochin University of Science and Technology - CUSAT (1971), Kerala Agricultural University (1971) and Mahatma Gandhi University (1983) were subsequently established. In recent times the Kerala State University of Health and Allied Sciences and APJ Abdulkalam Technological University have taken over affiliation of medical and engineering colleges respectively, have shrunk the jurisdiction of the University of Kerala to Thiruvananthapuram, Kollam, Alappuzha districts and some parts of Pathanamthitta district.

2. Administration

The Vice-Chancellor, appointed by the Governor of Kerala, is the Chief Executive Officer of the University. The Pro-Vice-Chancellor assists the Vice-Chancellor. The University has three important bodies which make policy decisions and execute it. The Senate and the Academic Council, two large bodies with wide-based representation, are the supreme bodies on general policy matters and academic matters respectively. The Senate, “the Supreme Authority of the University”, which is reconstituted every four years, has 117 members (24 ex-officio, 78 elected and 15 nominated). It represents a cross section of the society, with its members drawn from different walks of social life. The Academic Council is the supreme academic body of the University. It is also a large body like the Senate, with its members drawn from different spheres of academic spectrum. The Academic Council has the power to make regulations and to advise the Senate and the Syndicate on all academic matters, to prescribe the programmes of studies in the University, to prescribe the qualifications of teachers, to make provision for the admission of students to the various programmes etc. The Syndicate, the chief executive body of the University, has a strength of 25 (including the Vice-Chancellor, the Pro-Vice-Chancellor, the Secretary to Govt. (Higher Education), the Secretary to Govt. (IT Dept.), the Director of Public Instruction, the Director of Collegiate Education, twelve elected members, one elected student member, five nominated members, one member nominated by KSHEC). The Syndicate, which meets ordinarily once in a month, has executive powers including the general superintendence and control over the institutions of the University.

3. Teaching and Research

The University of Kerala has its own departments of teaching and research (housed in University campuses) and also maintains a number of affiliated colleges, spread over four southern districts of the state. The forty one departments of teaching and research are organized as nine schools, and most of them are housed in the Karyavattom campus. Teaching, research and knowledge extension are the mandates of the departments. They primarily focus on post-graduate (masters) programmes, MPhil programmes (1-year research degree started in 1973) and doctoral (PhD) programmes and post-doctoral programmes. Affiliated colleges run large number of bachelor’s programmes and lesser number of masters and doctoral programmes. University's research activities are also going on in select affiliated colleges and other recognized research centres. The total number of full-time students in the University departments is above 2000, including research students.

reducing the affiliated college strength further. Jurisdiction of the University now extends to the revenue districts of Thiruvananthapuram, Kollam, Alappuzha (excluding Kuttanad Taluk) and Pathanamthitta (excluding Ranni, Mallappally, Kozhencherry and Tiruvalla Taluks).

The University has also established 10 University Colleges of Teacher Education (UTECE) and 17 University Institute of Technology (UIT), both of which offer under-graduate programmes (B.Ed. in UTECs and BSc (Computer Science/IT/Electronics) and BBA in UITs), although masters programmes are available in select UITs. The Campus biodiversity is overshadowed by these trees. Tucked away behind them are trees of rare species and a number of ponds, (the 'haunted' Hymavathy Kulam, the EchilottuKulam etc.), tiny hills and valleys and even a sacred grove. Butterflies, snakes, bats and birds including peacocks, are a part of the biodiversity of the campus. The Chempaka trees, the Konna trees (the golden shower), the Gulmohar or Vaka (the fiery forest red) and the tiny yellow flowers of the Acacia dot colors in the green scape of the Campus.

⁶The origin of the Manuscript Library can be traced back to 1830s, when a Sanskrit scholar hailing from Payyannoor, Sankara Natha Jothishi, who was a member of the court of Renjith Singh in Lahore. He came to Trivandrum with a collection of rare manuscripts which was gifted to the King of Travancore, which formed the nucleus of the Palace Library which gradually became the Oriental Manuscript Library.

(v) The Department of Publications¹⁰, one of the oldest departments of the University, has brought out several noteworthy publications including Saraswathi Kantabharanam, a

¹⁰ At the time of its establishment, no other University in India had a well-organized publication department. During its formative strage it brought out a series of glossaries, popular science books, translations from classics and original books. "The Arogyamargangal, the Kumarabhrityam, etc provided some basic elements of health education. A survey of the rise of the Dutch power in Malabar and Dutch Hegemony in Malabar and its collapse by Dr. T. I. Poonen was also brought out. The copyright of "The birds of Kerala" by the eminent ornithologist Dr. Salim Ali, (originally published in 1953 as The Birds of Travancore and Cochin) remains with the University of Kerala. Prof. Sukumar Azhikode, opined about this work: "Scholarships at its highest, prose at its best and criticism at its noblest. In amplitude it is the greatest original work written in Malayalam", While in merit. Among prose-works, it is again the greatest, Undoubtedly it is the magnum opus of Uloor". Bodhisatwapadana Kalpalatha was got translated into Malayalam verse by Mahakavi Vallathol and published in treatise on Sanskrit Grammar, the five volumes of Kerala Sahitya Charithram by Mahakavi Ulloor S. Parameswara Ayyar and Sahithya Nayakanmar (Men of Letters) Series, Chitra Ramayana, based on palm-leaf manuscripts. four parts. Dr. K. Goda Varma's work entitled "Kerala Bhasha Vijnaneeyam" is one of the earliest linguistic study of Malayalam language. An edition of the Malayalam translation of the Rig Veda by Mahakavi Vallathol was also published. In the men of letters series, short but illuminating sketches of the lives of great writers and a critical appreciation of their works were published.

¹¹ "The Malyalam Lexicon is clearly the work of a perfectionist who, no less evidently, has the support of a team inspired by the same ideals. We see the results of careful and sensible planning and of thoughtful and painstaking execution. A remarkable feature of the Malayalam Lexicon is the large number of works from which words and citations (a million and a half of the latter). When all volumes have been published, they will form a source of envy- and, one hopes, of inspiration- for the speakers of the other national languages of India". (R.E. Asher International scholar in Linguistics and Malayalam, University of Edin Burgh). Prof. Samuel Mathai, Vice-Chancellor doing release of first volume. "In offering this work to the public, the University of Kerala feels that it is fulfilling one of its major functions as a regional University. This is the first lexicon in any Indian language based on philosophical and historical principles". For comparison, it may be noted that, the Pune Deccan College's Sanskrit dictionary has so far published eleven volumes with 5408 pages in 60 years, the Oxford English dictionary, when it was last printed, had 21 volumes with over 21,000 pages.
